ENGLAND SPENT FORTY BILLION POUNDS IN WAR

Lloyd George Declares Peace Conditions Are Far Away.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Aug. 18.—The British government has accepted the policy of the state purchase of mineral rights in coal. This announcement was made by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons today.

In discussing the financial and industrial situation the premier said that there was an alarming trade balance against the united kingdom of £800,000,000 which threatened to increase. He announced that import restrictions would be removed September 1.

The premier said that before the war imports had exceeded exports from the United Kingdom by £150,000,000. Receipts from foreign investments at present are down to £100,000,000 while Great Britain has to pay back an adverse trade balance of £800,000,000.

Labor conditions in the United Kingdom, he said, had improved. Of the 3,600,000 men demobilized only 350,000 have not been absorbed in industries. Pensions cost the government £100,000,000 yearly. Private expenditure in the aggregate, he said, was more for a middle than public expenditure. One way of meeting the increase in expenditure is to increase production, but the output is less in everything except agriculture.

Adverse Trade Balance Grows
He declared that if the country continued in the way in which it was going, the adverse trade balance would reach £1,000,000,000 compared to £150,000,000 before the war.

"We cannot prosper," he said, "we cannot even exist without recovering and maintaining our international trade. We must bring up the trade balance, adding to our exports and lessening our imports."

"We have advanced some £4,000,000,000 to the world from which we are getting something like £200,000,000 yearly in interest. We have sold £1,000,000,000 of foreign securities to pay for war material for ourselves and our allies. We have borrowed £1,200,000,000 from America and Canada for the same purpose. Our allies, including Russia, owe us £1,800,000,000."

"At the present moment our adverse trade balance is £800,000,000."

London, Eng., Aug. 18.—The war cost forty billion pounds, Premier Lloyd George declared in his speech in the house of commons today on the financial and industrial situation. Most of this sum was spent for purposes of destruction.

He asserted that the change from war to peace conditions would take just as long as the change from peace to war. The first outstanding fact of the present situation was the alarming adverse trade balance, he said.

The import restrictions which will terminate Sept. 1, he continued, had given British manufacturers an opportunity of making a dealing in goods which otherwise would have been hurried here from foreign countries.

The national debt, he declared had grown from £41,000,000 pounds to 7,800,000,000 pounds.

Steam Boiler Blows Up; Three Boys Dead
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Greenfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—Three boys, all aged seven years, were killed, three others were badly scalded and ten other persons sustained injuries when a boiler furnishing steam for a mine pump exploded on the farm of Norman Mayberry, five miles northeast of here yesterday afternoon.

The dead are:
Edward L. Mayberry, son of Charles Mayberry, of Gillespie, Ill.
Lawrence Sampson and John Edward Sampson, sons of Elmer Sampson, of near Hettick, Ill.

Two other sons of Charles Mayberry, father of one of the killed, were seriously scalded and may die.

They are Donald Mayberry, aged 12, and Jesse Mayberry, aged 10. The other boy who sustained bad scalds is Harry Alderson, aged 11, of near Greenfield.

Many persons injured by flying debris or burned by the boiling water hurled from the boiler are being cared for at their homes today.

Water was being taken from an abandoned mine on the Mayberry farm, and a crowd had gathered from nearby farm houses to witness the process.

All three of the boys who lost their lives were killed instantly.

Charles Mayberry had brought his family from Gillespie to visit his brother on the farm where the accident occurred. A reunion had been planned.

BUSINESS INTERESTS OPPOSE GOVERNMENT RAILWAY OWNERSHIP

Chamber of Commerce of U. S. Finds Objection in Late Operation.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 18.—Business sentiment in the United States is unanimous that government ownership of railroads must not prevail, Charles A. Post, chairman of the railroad committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told the house interstate commerce committee today.

Sentiment as shown by tests made by the chamber, is strongly, even overwhelmingly against proposals of the kind, he declared, because of the experience with government operation during the war. Other reasons against it, he contended were heavy costs, and the necessity thereafter of financing government extensions through congressional appropriations with consequent subject to political influence.

Cannot Operate Reasonably.
"The consensus of opinion of the national chamber," Mr. Post said, "is that unless the government adopted the policy of fixing low rates and fares with the intention that any resulting deficit from operations should be placed as an increased burden of taxes upon the general public, rates and fares would be higher under government than under private operation."

Likewise, the organizations of railroad employees might easily exercise a controlling influence upon national politics, he said.

Private Ownership Essential.
Constructive proposals in relation to the railroad situation, Mr. Post argued, called for return of the lines to private ownership and management, with consolidation of the numerous lines now existing into a limited number of strong competing systems. Such groups, he said, should be built up by enlarging the present large systems, and not by combining roads on a geographical basis. Federal incorporation for these roads, with a federal transportation board to control them, and stronger interstate commerce commission powers to regulate rates and service, as proposed by the national transportation conference he said, had been endorsed by vote of the chamber's membership.

Rock Island Campers Passed Through Dixon
Several automobiles and auto trucks passed through Dixon this morning en route from Rock Island to the Menominee Indian reservation in Wisconsin, carrying 35 members of the United Sunday School Band of Rock Island. The party left Rock Island this morning at 5 o'clock, the advance car arriving here at 8:30 and the remainder of the train about an hour later. They expected to take dinner at DeKalb where they spent a few hours visiting historic points of interest, and then proceeded to Chicago, where they will camp in Grant park over night. Leaving Chicago, they will proceed to the lakes of Wisconsin and to the Menominee Indian reservation for a four day visit, returning to Rock Island by way of Rockford and spending a day at the Y. M. ELEVATED ROADS IN GOTHAM TIED UP BY WALKOUT

Millions Walk to Work While Surface Lines Are Overcrowded.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Aug. 18.—Forced to reach its offices by devious routes in a rain storm, commercial New York entered the second day of its traction strike with resentment in its heart.

With interborough subways and elevateds completely tied up, the city's millions this morning battled their way into such surface cars as were running or into busses and moving vans hastily organized into semblance of a transportation system.

Brokers and financiers hastening to Wall street in their automobiles, arrived with the greatest numbers of clerks and stenographers to whom they could offer a "lift."

Many offices and stores were late in opening.

Subways Are Crowded.
Service on the Brooklyn rapid transit subway entering Manhattan—the only underground in operation on the island—was increased 25 percent, while Hudson and East River ferry boat lines reorganized their schedules, plying back and forth as rapidly as possible to take on passengers and discharge them.

But New York found that with its main traffic arteries crippled, it was a difficult task to find extra means to handle the 1,200,000 passengers carried each day by the subways and the 1,111,000 by the elevated.

Strikers Pled Anyway?

WIFE AND AUTO, HIS LOVES, GONE; OFFERS REWARDS
Rock Falls Man Seeking Friend Who Flew with Both.
Here is a chance to assuage the grief of John F. Sterns of Rock Falls, Ill., and earn $100 at the same time.

Mr. Sterns had two loves, his car and his wife. On August 4, Clayton Brubaker, also of Rock Falls placed the latter in the former and drove away to parts unknown. Sterns first missed his wife and then found injury had been added to insult when he peered into a vacant garage. He rushed to Joseph Walton, chief of police of Rock Falls, and offered $25 reward for the return of his car. He added another $25 for the arrest of Brubaker and Mrs. Sterns.

Raises the Reward
As the days passed, a wifeless and carless existence began to pall. Yesterday Sterns called on Chief Walton and raised the rewards to $50 each.

Brubaker is described as being 35 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and 145 pounds in weight. He has dark hair and dark complexion. He is a traction engineer and garage man.

Description of Woman
Mrs. Sterns is 25 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and almost a blond.

The car, a 1917 model Dodge of the touring type, bears Illinois license No. 26351, motor number 224901, and car number 174561. It has a black body with yellow wire wheels and an extra wheel on the rear. The initials "J. F. S." were inscribed in small letters on the side when it was last seen.

Moline Colored Team Lost to Dixon Browns
The Dixon Browns defeated a team of colored players from the Deere plow factory of Moline at the Brown field yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 3. The visitors made the trip to Dixon in automobiles and experienced some trouble on the way which delayed them considerably. They arrived here at 3 o'clock. The pitcher for the Deere team was wild in the first three innings and started off by walking three men and hitting the next batter forcing over a run.

The Browns sent three tallies over in the first, two in the second and then were held until the eighth when the sixth and final count was made.

Lightner did the twirling for the Browns and pitched a good game. The Deere team played good ball and a good sized crowd witnessed the game.

Hogan's Grocery Opened This Morn

Postmaster William Hogan's branch of Uncle Sam's mail order grocery store, opened this morning with a rush and orders were coming in steadily throughout the day. Miss Agnes Tague has complete charge of this department which is being conducted from the registration window.

Many Dixon people were on hand bright and early this morning when the postoffice opened for the day to place their orders. There was no delay in placing orders where the original rules as arranged by the postoffice and war departments had been followed out. There is every indication that the allotment for Dixon will be used up before the end of the week and that some of the articles will be exhausted from the list in a few days.

SHANTUNG AWARD WILL CAUSE WAR U.S. EXPERTS SAY

China Has Lost Entirely on Her Claim and Has Been Isolated.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 18.—It was the unanimous opinion of American experts on far eastern affairs at Versailles that war must result from the peace treaty provision giving Japan control in the Chinese province of Shantung, the senate foreign relations committee was told today by Thomas F. Millard, an American writer, who was attached to the Chinese peace delegation.

Concluding a detailed story of the Shantung negotiations, which he said came directly from delegates to the conference, Mr. Millard said:

"In my opinion if a map had set out deliberately to put China in an embarrassing position, the outcome could not have been more unfortunate. China has lost out entirely on her Shantung claim. By reason of advice given her by the United States she did not raise at all other questions in which she was interested. And by reason of her refusal to sign the treaty under those circumstances she is completely isolated."

"When professor E. T. Williams, for years head of the state department division of far eastern affairs, heard of the Shantung agreement he said 'this means war' and every American expert there felt the same way. I have heard, but do not know whether it is true, that General Bliss' letter to the president on the subject contained a statement to the same effect."

HEARINGS BEGIN ON MEASURE FOR PACKER CONTROL

Kenyon Bill Aims for Licensing—Divorce From Other Lines.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 18.—Before the senate agriculture committee today, the problems of packers, their alleged monopoly of preparing and distributing meats and their alleged policy of expanding their business enterprises to the point of controlling the supply of other foods, came up for an investigation in the hearing on the Kenyon bill to extend federal control over the packing industry.

Senator Gronna, committee chairman, prefaced the proceedings with a brief statement of conditions which he said were leading to a general demand for limitation of corporate profits. So did Senator Kenyon.

"This is a radical bill, with teeth in it, which deserves the most careful scrutiny, but it is not a government ownership bill," said Senator Kenyon. "It provides a new method of corporate control in this country. It suggests the licensing of packers, the divorce from them of their stock ownership and the elimination of their control of refrigerating cars. The basis for it is the report of the federal trade commission and information before this commission."

Is Public Business.
"Meat packing is no longer a private business. If the monopoly has grown to the degree we understand it has, it is indefensible and intolerable. There may be a little efficiency growing out of it, but that is temporary."

"We are not engaged in an attack on private profits, though the propaganda of the packers has frightened business since this bill came up, and may have frightened congress out of the attempt to legislate. We are not trying to injure business, nor stop reasonable profits, but excess profits today are treasonable profits."

BOLSHEVIKI DRIVEN FROM ODESSA, FOOD CENTER OF RUSSIA

Soviets Are Reported to Be Evacuating Whole of the Ukraine.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Aug. 18.—The bolsheviks have been driven from Odessa by the populace of the city, according to reports received by the British war office. It is reported also that the soviet forces are evacuating Kiev and the entire Ukraine.

Odessa was the last important city along the Black Sea held by the bolsheviks. The reported loss of the city and the evacuation of Kiev and the Ukraine if correct, take from bolshevik control the most important agricultural territory of European Russia. Since its evacuation by the allies, Odessa has been held by the soviet except for a brief period when rebels gained control.

Reports last week were that the forces of General Denikine were pressing toward Odessa from two sides. Previously Denikine's troops had cut most of the lines of communication. Ukrainians under General Petlura have been advancing steadily toward Kiev.

Striking Miners to Meet at Springfield

Clyde Cox Was Near Serious Accident

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—Delegates began arriving here today for the convention tomorrow of striking coal miners.

Strike leaders said the procedure planned for the convention would be carried out, although the agitation sustained for the past few weeks had succeeded in calling attention to the "autocratic" methods of present officers. They declared today, in keeping with the statements issued last night by Lawrence Lamb, chairman of the strikers' policy committee of the Springfield sub-district, that the men would be urged to return to work following the convention.

Reports received here today indicated that a number of mines had resumed work after several days of idleness due to the strike.

Clyde Cox Was Near Serious Accident
Clyde Cox, residing north of Grand Detour on the River road, narrowly escaped being a party of a serious accident, when his new Dorn car crashed through the heavy woven wire fencing at the north approach of the Grand Detour bridge at about 10:30 Saturday evening.

After he had driven off the Ogle county end of the Grand Detour bridge and gone a few hundred feet, he turned to see from what direction the rain was falling. As he did so the car struck the heavy woven wire fence and started to go down the steep embankment. Mr. Cox retained presence of mind and stopped the car, which was being driven slowly at the time. The heavy woven wire attached to steel posts held the machine from going down the embankment and the only damage done was a few scratches on the body of the machine.

The authorization for the payment of the ransom was received from Maj. Gen. Jos. T. Dickman, commander of the southern department.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—The American embassy at Mexico City was instructed today by the state department to immediately call upon the Mexican government for quick action to affect the release of Lieutenants Paul H. Davis and Harold G. Peterson, American army aviators, who were captured by Mexican bandits near Candelaria, Tex., while patrolling the border and who are threatened with death unless $15,000 ransom is paid today.

The state department's announcement said the instructions pointed out the seriousness with which the United States government views this situation and called for immediate adequate action. The American consul at Juarez also was instructed to take all possible steps with the Mexican authorities there to secure release and protection of the officers.

Ransom Will Be Paid.
State department officials said the ransom demanded would be paid as soon as information could be had as to where and whom the money was to be delivered. It has not been decided whether the United States would furnish the sum and charge it against the Carranza government or call upon the Mexican government to pay it direct.

The department's announcement said:

"The department of state has telegraphed instructions to the American embassy at Mexico City to immediately call upon the Mexican government for quick action to affect the release of Lieutenants Paul H. DIXON COLLEGE STUDENTS WILL ESTABLISH FUND TO PROVIDE ANNUAL REUNIONS IN DIXON--OVER 5 HUNDRED ENJOYED MEETING HERE LAST WEEK

Dr. E. S. Murphy's Sug- gestion Unanimously Adopted.

When Dr. E. S. Murphy of Dixon suggested to the half thousand former students and instructors of the old Dixon College, assembled at the first annual reunion, that an endowment fund should be created to provide money for holding annual reunions in this city--the scene of the good old college days--the many men and women who were renewing friendships begun in the old institution in the west part of Dixon immediately acquiesced, and the report of the committee appointed to formulate a scheme for a permanent organization and plans for creating the endowment fund was unanimously adopted.

Under the plan the sale of endowment memberships to former students and teachers is expected to provide a fund of $25,000. The interest on this amount will be used to maintain the amount and to provide a fund for reunion expenses, which this year were borne by the former students who reside in this city.

Reverts to University
At the expiration of 25 years, by which time it is estimated that the number of former students who will be living will be so small as to make reunions inadvisable, the original fund of $25,000 is to be transferred to some recognized university in Illinois for the creation of a scholarship, to be known as the "Dixon College Endowment" or to endow some chair. The use of the money and the selection of the University to be benefited are to be determined by the Board of Trustees then in charge of the fund.

Want Annual Reunions
Everyone of the 500 former students of the old Northern Illinois Normal School--the corporate name of "Dixon College"--who were present at the first reunion held here last week, expressed his thanks to the Dixon men who had taken it upon themselves to bring about this first reunion and his desire that the event might occur annually.

Friendships begun here decades ago and nearly forgotten because of the separation of the principals, were renewed, and many a half hour was spent when former fellow students who had lost all track of one another met among the familiar scenes of the old Assembly Park and recounted the joys, sorrows and successes which have come since the old school turned out its young people to battle life's perplexities.

All remember the time when Dixon College was one of the biggest in the country, when its scope and its scholarship outnumbered even the University of Illinois; when over a thousand young men and women gathered here every year to get the higher education taught by a big corps of competent instructors in the red brick buildings which have now fallen to commercial purposes. The memories of those days are sweet and to the many who still recall the thrill of hearing their Alma Mater mentioned the annual convales here are going to be red letter days on the calendars of the coming years.

World is Vast Jail with King George as Keeper, Walsh Says

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Aug. 18--Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American commission on Irish independence, characterized the world as a "vast jail with King George V of England as its keeper" in a statement issued here today protesting against the alleged acquiescence of various state departments in permitting England to deny passports for their citizens to travel in Great Britain and its possessions.

Mr. Walsh urged that a joint secretariat to set up in the league of nations to protect citizens of all nations instead of having a single secretariat "in the shadow of the steeple of Westminster." The present form of the league compels regional sympathy with the imperialistic ambitions of England," he declares. "The present arrangement concludes: "To begin a true reign of democracy in the world, the jail doors erected throughout the world by the passport system must be battered down by the democrats who understand the true meaning of the words liberty and freedom."

Parcel Post Sale of Army Food is Begun

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 18--Parcel post sale of the vast surplus supply of food stuffs, which the war department is putting on the market, was inaugurated today with every postmaster in the country furnished with a price list from which the consumer may order. Individuals may order directly from the postmaster who in turn will base his requisitions upon the war department on the volume of foodstuffs ordered.
For each of the 70 articles of food offered the price list shows the price per can or individual unit as well as the price per case or larger container. The gross weight of each package also is shown in order that the purchaser may compute the price he will have to pay by adding the parcel post rate from the nearest distributing point. The food stuffs have been distributed in each of the thirteen war department subsistence districts in proportion to population, the prices quoted being f. o. b. storage points in those districts.

REUNION PERSONALS

G. F. Maetzold, who is now president of the Minneapolis Business College, accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Stella Royce, attended the reunion of Dixon College students.

Judge Lawrence DeGraff, formerly principal of the North Dixon High school, and who is now judge of the District Court of Des Moines, Ia., was among those present at the Dixon College reunion.

Miss Faith Neighbour, of Champaign, Ill., is spending her vacation in Dixon and attended the reunion of Dixon College students.

George Schrader, of Moline, Ill., better known as "Cupid" of the class of 1902-03, was among the visitors. "Cupid" hasn't landed George, and it is one good bet "Cupid" overlooked.

Frank and Will Hart, of Ashton, accompanied by their families, graduates of the scientific and business departments of the Dixon College were present for the reunion.

Samuel Lytton and wife, and son, Howard, from Altona, Ill., attended the reunion at Dixon last week. Mrs. Lytton was formerly Miss Florence Cornis. S. W. Hurler and wife, of Coatsville, Missouri, attended the reunion. Both were former students at the Dixon College. Sam owns and operates a large stock and grain farm.

Mary Hart (Glen), of Ashton, Ill., who is the official historian of the Dixon College organization, was a reunion visitor.

Amos Hoke, a prosperous farmer of St. Louis, Mo., was among those present at the College reunion.

Burt Gallup and wife, of Chicago, were among those present at the College reunion. Alex Anderson and wife attended the College reunion. Mr. Anderson is now County Superintendent of Highways of Ogle County.

Attorney J. E. Dittus, a prominent lawyer, of Chicago, is one of the most ardent advocates of a continuance of meetings of the Dixon College student organization.

Mr. Frank Carney and wife, of Rochelle, Ill., drove to Dixon for the college reunion. Both were former students at the college.

Rollo Russell, postmaster at Princeton, Ill., is attending the reunion. Mr. Russell was the first student to enroll in the law department of Dixon College.

James O'Mara, a successful lawyer of Decatur, Ill., was among the guests present at the Dixon College reunion.

Judge A. H. Hannelken was busy during the entire session of the reunion entertaining his old sweethearts. He met all trains in his Oldsmobile, and conveyed them to the grounds. In the evening he showed them the sights around Dixon, which were thoroughly enjoyed in the moonlight.

Attorney George E. Dodd, of Eldorado, Ill., (95) and wife, (nee Gertrude Rowley, '95) were present both days of the reunion.

One of the interesting matters was the presence of three brothers, former students of the college, viz: Harry Baldwin and Francis Baldwin, of Chicago, and Dan Baldwin, of Tuscola. Dan Baldwin and wife drove to Dixon from their home.

Lydia Webber, (now Mrs. Cherry), of Watertown, Wis., (95) was here. She came all the way from Oklahoma to be present.

Burdette J. Smith, (91), was mingling with friends. He is the president of Burdette J. Smith & Co., Law Book Sellers, Chicago.

Attorney Grover W. Gehant, secretary of the Reunion Committee, made a most excellent host for the occasion, especially when there were plenty of dances to entertain.

Sale of Endowment Memberships to Pro- vide Big Fund.

More than five hundred enthusiastic former students of Dixon College held their first reunion at Assembly Park in this city, Friday and Saturday. They came from Iowa, Minnesota, California, Wisconsin, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Florida, New York and Illinois. The first meeting was called to order by John P. Devine, member of the Legislature of Illinois, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The address of welcome was delivered by Attorney E. E. Wingert, one of the early students and later an instructor in the law department of the college. Next Prof. J. B. Dille responded and gave a very interesting talk on the early history of the college. Addresses were made by J. W. Watts, W. F. Strong, W. H. Winn and Mrs. Anna G. Burnham, all of whom were former instructors at the college. District Judge Lawrence DeGraff, of Des Moines, Iowa, and R. L. Russell, of Princeton, Ill., (the latter being the first student in the law department) also gave interesting talks.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in visiting and renewing acquaintances. In the evening a dance for the students was held at the Armory hall, and more than one hundred couples attended.

Provide Endowment Fund.

Saturday morning the report of the committee appointed to draft plans for the permanent organization, was presented and after thorough discussion it was the unanimous opinion of the former students that the report be adopted. The plan provides for the establishing of an endowment fund through the sale of life memberships, the principal amount of the fund ultimately to be used for the endowment of a chair in some recognized university, to commemorate the memory of Dixon College and of those subscribing for such memberships. Approximately 175 life memberships were quickly subscribed at that meeting and plans are under way to increase this number to five hundred by January 1, 1920. Strong committees are being organized to carry on this work.

The meeting voted unanimously to hold all future reunions at Dixon, during the month of August of each year. Saturday afternoon was devoted to visiting and a group photograph was taken. One of the interesting features of the afternoon was when Prof. Neighbour asked that all students who had enrolled at the college for the first time during any year beginning with the year 1881, 1890, and students were present who had enrolled for the first time during each year from 1881 down to 1914. Prof. Neighbour then asked all of those who had met their husbands or wives at the college, and many of those present rose, then he inquired how many were sorry they had, and only one hand was held up.

A committee was appointed to make plans for the reunion to be held next year at which time it is expected that on thousand former students will be in attendance.

Organization Details.

Following is the report of the committee on permanent organization of the Dixon College Students' association, which is composed of Dr. E. S. Murphy of Dixon, Augustus E. Olson and E. A. Gerard, of Chicago:

BENSON-SCHUMM WEDDING—

In a very pretty wedding Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schumm, 514 Squires avenue, Miss Harriette K. Schumm became the bride of G. Edward Benson of Chicago. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. C. G. Unangst, pastor of the Grace Evangelical church of this city.

Miss Emma Schumm was maid of honor for her sister and Stephen Fleming, of Chicago, served as best man for Mr. Benson.

The color scheme for the wedding was pink and white, and clover blossoms and roses, combined with baby's breath and other greenery, arranged in a canopy, made a pretty setting for the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white Georgette crepe and old lace and her flowers were bride's roses arranged in the conventional shower bouquet. Pink Georgette crepe composed the gown of the maid of honor, who carried pink roses.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Bess Rutherford of Chicago, played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The ring ceremony was used. A reception and buffet supper followed the reading of the service, with friends of the bride, the Misses Josephine and Margaret Watts, and Irene Miller of Dixon, assisting in the serving.

The guests at the wedding and reception numbered thirty-five and included from out of town Mr. and Mrs. John Light, Mrs. Benson, the groom's mother, the Misses Louise and Bess Rutherford and Annabel Joppe, of Chicago.

Mrs. W. H. Dunn, the bride's sister, of Stockton, Calif.; the Misses Nina and Gladys Hildebrand of Polo, and Miss Vera Thoma of Ashton.

The honeymoon trip was taken to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Benson leaving Dixon Saturday evening. They will be at home after the middle of September in Chicago where they have furnished a flat.

Mr. Benson is manager of a railroad printing house in Chicago. His bride is a favorite in the North Dixon coterie of young people and is a graduate of the North Dixon high school. For the past year or two she has been making her home in Chicago where she has been employed as a secretary.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

By JANE PHELPS.

ROSE EXPRESSES HER OPINION OF EVERETT.

CHAPTER XLIX.

When I saw Everett I was so astonished I lost what little wit I ever possessed, and instead of answering I just stared at him.

"Well, why don't you speak? Where have you been until this time?" again looking at the watch he held in his hand.

"To the theater," I faltered.

"Who said you could go to the theater? I thought I expressly told you in my letter to go to bed early."

"Everett, don't you see Rose, Rose Grandon—yo unse her out home you know?"

"Yes I remember Miss Grandon," he inclined his head slightly, as with a faint good night Rose slipped past us, up to her room.

In a way I was glad she had gone, that she would no longer be a witness to my humiliation. In another way I wished she had remained. Everett might have been less unreasonable.

Neither of us had replied to Rose's good night, but as soon as she had gone Everett said:

"Come into the library!"

I followed meekly, but I didn't feel one bit meek inside. He had been away for days, hadn't told me what he was doing or anything. He hadn't even kissed me. Father always kissed mother several times if he had been away over one night.

I stood opposite him after he switched on the lights.

"Why didn't you obey me?" he asked sternly.

"Because—because—why, Everett, I haven't done anything wrong, I only—"

"When I tell you to remain at home, to retire early, I expect to be obeyed."

"But I am not a child! I don't know where I got the courage to speak up as I did. I was lonely. I asked Rose to come and stay with me while you were gone. I couldn't read or do anything. I was so lonesome. And after she came we had to do something. I am sure that you wouldn't have talked to Leola the way you do to me. I am ashamed to have Rose go home and tell how I am treated." I stopped, frightened almost to death. I had not meant to mention his first wife—to this day I don't know what made me do it. But I was so hurt and angry.

Everett had turned a pasty gray color when I mentioned Leola, and the knuckles of his hands which gripped the table were white and strained. For a moment he did not reply. Then in a voice I scarcely recognized, he said:

"Go upstairs and go to bed."

"Aren't you coming?" I asked, frightened at his looks.

"Not now—but go!"

I went.

Rose was watching for me, and followed me into my room.

"Your poor dear! I was awfully envious of you—all your wonderful clothes, this beautiful home and everything. But I am not jealous any longer. He's a bear! I wouldn't live with him for a million dollars! I'd be frightened to death to breathe naturally for fear he wouldn't like it. Give me a young man who likes fun, and loves me!" she finished with a great deal of emphasis on the "loves me."

"He was cross because I didn't do as he said," was all I could think of in the way of an apology.

"But you're a married woman! You're not a child living at home with your father and mother. They have a right to boss you, he hasn't. I wouldn't put up with it for a minute. I'd show him where he got off," she finished slangily.

Just then I hear a movement downstairs.

"Run back to your room Rose. He's coming!" and like a frightened rabbit she scuttled back.

"What did your friend have to say to you that couldn't keep till morning?" Everett asked as he closed the door.

"She said she would rather marry a man who loved her than to have all you have given me," I had purposely left out the "young."

"So she thinks I do not love you?"

"Of course."

"Why—of course?"

"Because—why—because of the way you act—the way you treat me."

"I see. And you agree with her?"

"Yes. I can't help it. You have been away over a week. You haven't kissed me, nor said a kind word. When father went away for one night he loved mother most to death when he came back."

He made no reply, and I crawled into bed quivering with anger and disappointment; yet glad he had not asked who took us to the theater.

Tomorrow—Rose Goes Home.

Climbing on High with Army Drivers

The chauffeur who used to consider Broadway and 42nd Street a hard place to cross went to war to discover that the rockiest road to Dublin lay in France, after all. For automobile driving became a supreme art over there, where there were no lights to illuminate the roads,—and often no roads to illuminate.

With shells bursting on all sides, and bombs dropping from the Jerrys above, the truck, ambulance and lorry drivers soon learned a thousand new tricks in the trade: how to keep a straight course without benefit of compass or light, how to climb out of mud hub-deep, how to run on three wheels if something happened to the fourth, in short, how to do the impossible, all to the glory of the Allies and November 11th.

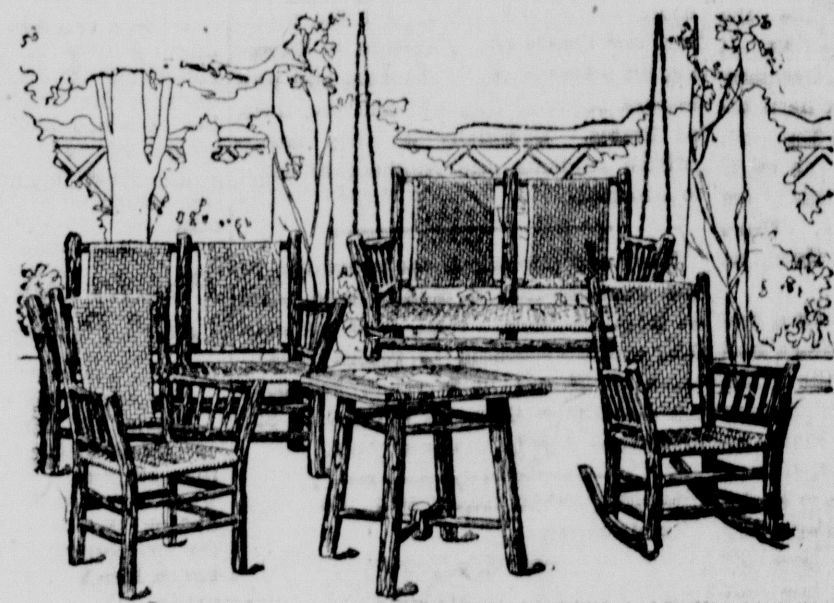

These men are now coming back to the United States, master mechanics and drivers, trained in the hardest school to every emergency that an automobile could confront. Some of them are still jobless, and Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the Secretary of War, and in charge of the government's re-employment campaign for ex-service men, offers them as the best possible material in the world for expert automobile driving.

Private employers who are operating large fleets of trucks for delivery and transportation purposes, are especially recommended to these expert drivers. The various governmental and welfare agencies will be the means for bringing the men and the jobs together.

RAMPANT.

"I consider it absolutely right, from the standpoint of France and England, that they should wish to get the greatest possible advantage from having won the war."

With this surprising statement Gen. von Bernhardi, well known German militarist writer, begins an article in the New York World. He adds: "France and England are acting quite naturally and properly in trying to do us as much harm as possible."

At first reading, these words may sound surprisingly liberal and generous, considering their source. But a thoughtful re-reading disposes of any such interpretation, and shows the serpent coiled between the lines.

Here is a characteristic trick of German militarism—attempting to justify itself by the clever but transparent device of representing Germany's foes as animated by the same spirit as Germany, even though they are far from it.

According to this view, the allied peace terms are intolerably oppressive. But they are "according to Hoyle," as it were. Any conqueror, Bernhardi and his kind suggest, might impose such terms, in order to cripple the beaten enemy and keep him beaten. It is an acknowledgment that Germany would have done it. He might have acknowledged more. France and England, and the United States in so far as it approves the peace settlement, are thus no better than Germany. There is one spirit pervading all of them, as Bernhardi would paint them.

So Germany stands merely as a nation that has made a brave effort, and somehow or other, has lost the game without thereby necessarily incurring any dishonor or any duty to make reparation beyond what is exacted from her by force. And always there is in the background of such discussions, as there is very plainly in this one of Bernhardi's, that Germany's time will come again, and in "the next war" there may be a different result. Bernhardi pictures Germany as still clinging to the old rule of "might is right."

The same old ring of the sword-rattlers, the same old robber band, the same old medieval spirit speaking for a supposedly modern and enlightened nation! Not a sign of conscience, beyond that primitive conscience which holds a robbing, fighting tribe together in its predator operations against more highly civilized tribes. Not a hint of responsibility to the rest of mankind, nor of deference to the eternal laws established by the great Sovereign of all mankind.

PRAISES US FOR ENTHUSIASM FOR EDUCATION.

The British educational mission, after coming over here and making a survey of our colleges and universities, seems to have been greatly surprised by two or three things that were observed. First the great enthusiasm of Americans for college education; next the great streams of money that flow into our educational institutions from former graduates and from American friends of education generally, and next the paucity of the salaries that we pay our educators in view of the large endowments and the big sums of money spent on buildings and equipment. The superiority of the average equipment of American colleges, particularly in laboratory and engineering facilities, fairly amazed the Britishers.

Here in America we have been accustomed to paying higher salaries and higher wages to almost every one than is paid for similar service in England, and the English have known this. It is therefore all the more surprising to them that we have been falling down in the matter of pay for education, the one thing that is better paid in England.

Concerning the great enthusiasm in this country for higher education, the commission has reported: "This widespread interest permeated all classes. It was to be seen in the flow of students to the newer universities; in the loyalty and affection of the alumni for their universities and colleges; in the large benefactions which come to these institutions from all quarters. There is ample evidence of a general desire for university education. The fact that the state universities give free education, the very large number of institutions that profess to give higher education, the more and more convincing evidence of its economic value, the tradition of social equality, the ease, frequency and fullness with which benefactions flow to the college—all imply a future in which a very large proportion of the American people will have received a college education."

The mission was inspired by the American college spirit, and the members are consistent, therefore, in favoring an interchange of students and professors between England and the United States. Especially do they desire British students and teachers to come to America.

They say low-priced shoes are out of the market—that a decent shoe costs at least $12 now. Well, it is no wonder, when, according to recent revelations, profiteers have taken $175,000,000 more than they are entitled to out of leather during the past year.

Wonder what Henry will do with that six cents.

ELEVATED ROADS
IN GOTHAM TIED UP BY WALKOUT

Its striking employees to obtain a fare increase by the strike said they regarded as significant the fact that no attempt has been made by the company to operate any of its subway or elevated lines since the strike was called.

Strikers voted today to invite Mayor Hylan to address them tonight at their headquarters. His request that they meet him in Madison Square Garden at any hour of the day or night was refused.

2,000,000 PEOPLE WALK

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Aug. 17.—More than 2,000,000 persons, who ordinarily travel daily over the Interborough Rapid Transit company's subway and elevated lines in Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens today either took slow moving surface cars and improvised conveyances or walked to their work as a result of the strike of the company's 14,000 employees for a 50 per cent increase in wages. As on Sunday when the strike became effective, not a wheel turned on the company's 250 miles of track.

The stoppage of the main arteries of travel caused the worst traffic snarl in the history of the city. The narrow streets in downtown New York were fairly congested during the early morning hours. A pouring rain added to the discomfort.

Jitneys In Operation

Thousands of jitneys and busses, operated by the city, filled beyond capacity with workers clogged the thoroughfares. Thousands fought in vain for standing room on each overloaded trolley car. Trolleys and other vehicles moved at a snail's pace. Residents on the outer fringe of the city were unable to reach their places of employment until many hours after their usual time and industrial New York was crippled in the consequence.

The New York Central railroad operated 26 extra trains of ten cars each between Hudson and Harlem river points to the Grand Central station. The sixty thousand extra passengers carried on these trains in addition to the regular traffic, caused an unprecedented congestion at the great terminal.

Ferries Put in Service

Fleets of ferries and other craft, pressed hurriedly into service, plied the North and East rivers, carrying passengers between the upper and lower ends of Manhattan island for the first time in many years.

More than six thousand policemen guarded the company's property and endeavored to control the tide of humanity sweeping through the streets. Notwithstanding the confusion there was but little disorder.

An effort to reach an agreement between the Interborough officials and the strike leaders will be made this afternoon at a conference with public service Commissioner Nixon. Mr. Nixon expressed the hope that a compromise might be effected, basing his hope on a statement attributed to President Connolly of the Brotherhood that although the men had made demands for an increase of 50 per cent in wages the strike would not have been called, had the company offered a raise of 20 per cent.

U. S. GENERAL SEEKS ACTION

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Budapest, Thursday, Aug. 18.—(Delayed)—Brig. Gen. Harry H. Bandholtz, American member of the allied military mission here, is urging his colleagues to ask peace conference to act quickly in regard to the presence of Rumanians in Hungary. This action on his part was taken in view of reports that the Rumanians continue to requisition food supplies.

Captain Thomas C. Gregory, chief allied food administrator in Central Europe, will not permit food to enter Hungary as long as the Rumanians continue their seizures. This food was purchased by him with Hungarian money which he obtained in Vienna when the communist regime collapsed. Herbert Hoover, chairman of the allied relief organization, who now is in Warsaw, has been asked to exert pressure on the peace conference for immediate action. Rumanian military authorities have asked that the American direct wire to Vienna be run through the central exchange under control of the Rumanians. This request has been refused.

Constantine Diamandy, the Rumanian high commissioner here, stated today that he would attempt to remove the censorship from the allied press, but complained that he did not have control of the military authorities.

Baker Wants Army to Show U. S. Strength

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Calling attention to the "disturbed state of the world at present," Secretary Baker told a senate military sub-committee today that he would not be doing his part unless he urged upon congress to provide for an army that would "represent the strength of the United States." The committee is considering the war department plan for a standing army of 575,000 men and universal military training.

The attention of the department was called to the Davis case late last night by Representative Barbour, of California, and telegraphic instructions were rushed to the embassy and the consulate. COWBOYS RAISE MONEY.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 18.—H. M. Fennell, vice president of the Marfa state bank, was authorized by wealthy cattlemen of the Big Bend district to draw $15,000 in cash from his bank today and proceed to Candelaria, Tex., to deliver this sum to Dawkins Kilpatrick to obtain the release of Lieut. Davis and Peterson, American aviators held for ransom by bandits in Mexico. The money probably will be paid late today to an agent of the bandits.

This sum was subscribed in fifteen minutes yesterday at the Bloys cowboy camp meeting.

RANSOM MONEY RAISED.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 18.—Every effort was being made today to expedite the rescue of Lieutenants Paul H. Davis and Harold G. Peterson, aviators of the U. S. A., who are held for a ransom of $15,000 by Mexican bandits, somewhere in Mexico south of the big bend district of West Texas.

While no official announcement was made by the military authorities, it was understood that the ransom money had been arranged for at a local bank and that a messenger would be started during the day for Candelaria, Tex., where he would receive instructions about handing over the gold to an agent of the bandits. Cattlemen attending the cowboy camp meeting at Fort Davis, Tex., also raised $15,000 in fifteen minutes Sunday and placed it at the disposal of the military authorities.

Missing Eight Days.

After eight days of suspense since the aviators patrolling the border disappeared, messages were received by military authorities at Marfa, Tex., yesterday, demanding payment of the ransom in gold to Dawkins Kilpatrick, an American, of Candelaria, before tonight or the Americans would be killed, according to the message. Another message signed by the aviators, accompanied the demand for the ransom, in which they stated practically the same facts as contained in the message from the bandit leader.

They also sent messages to their relatives in Strathmore, Calif., and Hutchinson, Minn., urging them to see that the ransom was raised at once. Another message was later sent to Candelaria addressed to Kilpatrick, and signed by one of the bandit band saying they would kill the aviators if there were any signs that the American military commanders were preparing to pursue the bandits.

Arabs Not Satisfied
with Peace Decision;
Will Present Protest

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Aug. 18.—Prince Faisal, son of Hussein Ben Ali, king of the Hedjaz, will embark at Beirut today to come to Paris and resume his place at the head of the Arab delegation. He is dissatisfied with the settlement of Syrian and Persian questions, according to the French press.

The aspirations of France in Syria are being discussed by French newspapers in connection with the Persian-Anglo understanding which is looked upon as providing for a British protectorate in Persia.

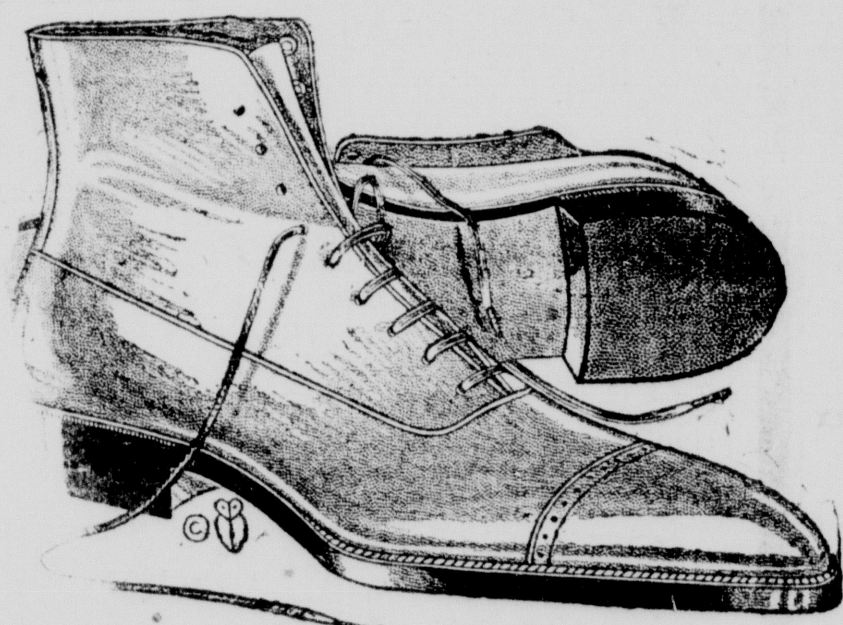

Until the Persian treaty is ratified, delegates to the peace conference think, it is improbable that it will come formally before the conference, although it is of first importance in the question of the dismemberment of Turkey. The situation regarding Turkey apparently is deadlocked until the United States decides whether it will accept a mandate for Armenia or elsewhere.

Several French newspapers, in discussing the departure of Prince Faisal for Paris, declare that France cannot deal with "British agents" but must press her claims to Syria before all the allies.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Kersten, of Ashton, were in Dixon Saturday.

TAMBOURINE AND WAR CRY ABANDONED; NEW METHODS OF FINANCE

Salvation Army Lassies No Longer Have to Make Collection.

Good-bye, little Salvation Army lassie with tinkling tambourine seeking stray nickels and pennies from sidewalk loungers. More efficient financial methods are about to take your familiar form from the streets, in the cities of Illinois.

Your feet have known dark and devious paths, your tiny tambourine and bundles of "War Cries" have led you into places which women with less exalted ideals than yours shunned with horror. It will not be necessary much longer for you to face sneers or laughs for money with which to carry on your work of mercy.

A great financial campaign, to be called the Salvation Army Home Service Campaign will be waged throughout all sections of Illinois September 22 to 29, to raise funds to put the work of the Salvation Army on a more sound and efficient financial basis. This new campaign will supplement the wonderful war work done by the army.

In the past, virtually all the funds used in the carrying of Light into places of Darkness were raised by the lassies with the tambourines, and the street corner singer with the upturned drum.

Now the plan is to wage one great campaign for money for this work, and utilize the time which heretofore has been spent in the house-to-house solicitation of small sums of money, in the work of mercy in Illinois.

The ground work of this state wide campaign has already been started. F. S. Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal Company, of Chicago, has consented to serve as state chairman, and he is now organizing an executive and all directing committee with which he will co-operate in conducting the campaign.

For purposes of the campaign, Illinois has been divided into three main divisions. Division A embraces the northern counties; B, the central counties and C the southern subdivisions.

Each division is further divided into districts, further to simplify the work of the campaign, the entire state being subdivided into fourteen of these districts.

With these districts separate organizations will be formed as the needs arise. In some where there are no large cities the unit of organization may be a county or a township. Each county will have headquarters located at the county seat.

Some of the field workers who are out as an advance guard to perfect the organizations, already are at their tasks and others are leaving the headquarters in Chicago daily. The central headquarters are in the rotunda of the old Grand Pacific hotel.

The general officers of the campaign are Evangeline Booth, commander of the United States Forces of the Salvation Army; Commissioner Thomas Estlin in charge of the work in the western states; Staff Captain C. A. Ryan, general director, and R. Dunbar, state director.

I. W. W. Members Held on Charge Rioting

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 1.—A half dozen men who admitted membership in the Industrial Workers of the World were to be arraigned today on charges of rioting last night, when the police with revolvers and clubs scattered a crowd of fifty who attempted to call a strike of employees in the Thompson, Weegman & Messinger chain of restaurants and lunch rooms in the downtown district.

Guards were posted today at all of the three chains of restaurants to protect customers and employees, in case there should be an attempt to renew the trouble.

"Fighting Chaplain" is Champion of Army—Y.M.C.A. Athletic Plans

EARL A. BLACKMAN

ARMY'S FIGHTING CHAPLAIN

Twenty-four foot ring or four-foot pulpit—it is all the same to Earl A. Blackman, of the 130th Field Artillery. Before the war he was pastor of a Kansas church. Now he is an army chaplain, and one of the most active champions of the big athletic program which the Y.M.C.A. is working out for the men overseas.

When Blackman needed money to get through college, he put on his ring togs and gave boxing lessons. He fought himself through college, but before he had finished he had decided to enter the ministry. Having won his college bout with adversity, he took another hitch in his belt and started on his second. It was a three-year battle, but Blackman won again with a good margin. Since then he has not had to use the gloves to earn a living, but he has always remained a staunch friend of athletics, and he is enthusiastic over the outlook for the A.E.F. season.

Organization of scores of baseball, basketball and other leagues; building of athletic fields, grandstands and boxing pavilions, and the movement and apportionment of vast quantities of athletic supplies require a combination of brains and brawn. Blackman has been one of the best of these.

LEAGUE ALLOWS GREAT BRITAIN TO TAKE EGYPT

Egyptian Case is Not One for Council to Take Action On.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—In a brief filed today with the Foreign Relations committee of the United States Senate Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri and now counsel for the Egyptian commission, charges that "England under the guise of a protectorate over Egypt practically has seized that country as a British possession that 'in an annex to the peace treaty the status of Egypt would be made an 'internal question' and beyond the jurisdiction of the council of the League of Nations, which council the Egyptians desire to have pass upon the status of Egypt."

The document sets forth that the original occupation of Egypt by British troops beginning in 1882, was claimed by the British government to be merely temporary for the purposes of suppressing "rebels" and collecting debts due to Europeans. The British government says Mr. Folk pledged Egypt and the world that this occupation would be only temporary.

Peace Celebrants Killed.

After giving a resume of the political history of modern Egypt and the alleged wrongs done in that country to enforce British rule in the last several decades, the brief recites the story of "the killing of 800 and the wounding of 1600 Egyptian natives last April in the streets of their cities while holding demonstrations for freedom under the self determination clauses of the peace treaty."

Mr. Folk, who was formerly solicitor for the State department and who now represents the commission which was named by the legislative assembly of Egypt, a majority of whom were elected by the people, he says calls attention to the fact that Egyptian troops numbering one million "fought on the side of the Allies to make, as they believed the world's safe for democracy" and for the "right of national self-determination for all peoples."

Egypt before the war he says was independent for all practical purposes, though under the nominal sovereignty of Turkey and subject to an annual tribute to Turkey. On Dec. 18, 1914, it is stated Great Britain removed the ruler of Egypt and appointed Prince Hussein as "Sultan," ostensibly as a war measure and assumed by the Egyptians to be such.

Conference Does Not Help.

When the time came for making peace Mr. Folk observes "the Egyptian people naturally concluded that since, under the league of nations they would be preserved from external aggression, the protectorate of Great Britain would be removed. But they were doomed to disappointment."

The Egyptian legislative assembly Commission the way to Paris to present that country's claims, it is charged was "interned by order of the British government upon reaching Malta." Released upon the recommendations of General Allenby, it is said, it reached Paris "only to find, with amazement that a recognition of the British protectorate over Egypt had been written into the treaty."

In conclusion the brief states: "The condemnation of Egypt without a hearing before an international tribunal, if one is established, would mean the continued subjection of Egypt to British bondage and continued mowing down by British machine guns of these liberty-seeking people who fought with America to make the world safe from military autocracy."

Hails the Essex

Essex owners report the satisfaction they experience at the way people speak of their cars. It increases their pride of ownership. Motorists and even boys on the street hail the Essex with some such greeting as "There is an Essex."

Curiosity in the car that possesses quality and performance at moderate cost and without the expense and weight of such cars as formerly were the only ones that possessed those advantages, has given way to openly voiced admiration.

Essex Owners Are Its Salesmen

At first it was what people who had seen the Essex said about it that led to its popularity.

Now owners—and there are thousands of them—are endorsing it on every hand. People stop Essex owners to inquire about their car. The answer is unanimous. When asked as to its performance they make no reservations. Admiration of its riding qualities is never lacking.

Every wanted quality in an automobile seems to have been met in the Essex. Ask the first Essex owner you meet.

Essex Performance is Always Mentioned

There is no uncertainty to the owner as to Essex performance. Drivers know positively that their cars will meet any acceleration or endurance test they impose.

They know they can match the performance of whatever car they encounter.

There are now enough Essex cars on the road to permit you to note their performance. They are always in the lead when quick acceleration is desirable. They hold their own on the road against cars regarded as the fastest. They keep going and require little attention.

The repair shop is no place to learn about the Essex for it has little need to know the repairman.

Won't you make some inquiry about the Essex? You will find it interesting and convincing.

CHINA'S SHRINES.

Washington, D. C.—China's shrines, including those in the much discussed Shantung, are described in a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of The National Geographic Society.

"Coleridge could not have selected a phrase more apt than 'stately pleasure dome,' had he intended to call attention to the best-known form in Chinese architecture. Like so much of the wrought beauty of China, such as is still seen in parks and gardens, pagodas are the work of the Buddhist church almost exclusively," says the bulletin, which is based on a communication from Frederick McCormick.

"The most beautiful specimens are in the Yangtze Valley, where pagodas are most numerous. Every important Chinese and Manchurian city is girdled with them. From the walls of Peking a dozen pagodas and towers may be counted within the city, and with a good glass half a dozen famous ones may be seen rising from the surrounding plain.

"Pagodas range in height from 20 to 200 feet, and are of various shapes—round, square, hexagonal, octagonal, etc. They always have an odd number of stories, ranging usually from seven to nine, and sometimes possessing 11 and even 13.

"The Chinese have appropriated the pagoda as a counterpoise to evil and used it, subject to their rules of geomancy.

"At the city of Tung, in the Peking plain, a region in past years visited by earthquakes, there is a prominent pagoda at one time had more than 1,000 bronze bells suspended from its corners, most of which are still in place. The people have this story to its construction: A water owl lives underground at this place and when he shakes his tail it causes earthquakes. Geomancers located the end of his tail, and the pagoda was built on it to hold it down. At the same time this did not prevent the water owl from winking his eyes, but, as his eyelids have not been accurately located, a second pagoda has not yet been built. As a result, tremblings of the earth still occur.

"The wonder inspired in the breast of the traveler who visits China's vast remains of abandoned capitals, extensive temples ranged in successive court and on terraces of the mountains, its pagodas, palaces, bridges and canals, is equalled by the awe inspired by the silence and splendor of the tombs of China's emperors. The tombs of the kings of the 'Six Kingdoms' in Shantung, though now only earthen pyramids terraced with little fields, have the air of the Pyramids of Egypt.

"The Ming tombs, near Peking, are the most famed in our day, perhaps, because they are relatively in a good state of preservation and are accessible to travelers. They are approached through the five-arched stone palisades already mentioned and by an avenue of stone animals nearly 2 miles in length. The sacred buildings are placed on the southern slope of the mountains and nearly inclosed by their encircling spurs.

"The place has an inspiration to all travelers. In front of the tomb of Yung Lo there is a sacrificial hall that is one of the largest buildings in China, and is perhaps only exceeded in dimensions by the Tai Miao, or ancestral temple of the Manchus, attached to the Forbidden City, Peking.

"In the matter of tomb-building, the Emperor of the 'Three Kingdoms,' 220-255 A. D., greatly exceeded the Ming. He ordered his son to build for him 72 tombs so that his enemies would not know which contained his tablet. The achievement may be noted of another ancient emperor who constructed his tomb and then built, peopled, and garlanded a city near by for its protection. Perhaps the Chinese, who have performed the greatest of engineering feats, have surpassed the Egyptians, Persians and Greeks in this direction also.

"Older than these, and what may be called the one shine in all China green with the devotion of the people, is the tomb of Confucius in Shantung. Here worship continues through the ages, under the patronage of all dynasties, since the fifth century A. D., when the Emperor Kao Ti set the example of imperial sacrifice there.

"As time went on the different dynasties neglected the tombs of their predecessors, so that now the tombs of the Manchus are the best specimens of mausolea in China.

"The Manchus followed the Chinese custom and law in respect to their ancestors. Solemn juniper forests enclose their sepulchers, which are approached through magnificent palisades and are preceded by stately buildings. There are no less than five imperial Manchu burial places. The original is at Hsin-king, eastern Manchuria, and is called the Yung Ling. Two are at Mukden and two in the region of Peking."

HOT BLOOD DRUNK AS A TONIC

Washington.—Because of the wide spread agitation concerning the future political status of Korea, and the charges of foreign persecution there, the National Geographic Society has issued a bulletin concerning one corner of "the hermit kingdom."

"Although Korea has a civilization extending nearly 4,000 years into the past, many of the natives in the north have never seen a white man," says the bulletin, which is quoted from a communication by Roy C. Andrews.

"They are living among the hills to day much as did their ancestors centuries ago, worshipping mythical gods in the rocks and trees on every mountain, keeping their women in semi-slavery, and dying in ignorance that beyond the narrow confines of their own peninsula lies a world replete with un-dreamed of wonders.

"Wrapped in the mantle of Oriental seclusion, for centuries Korea successfully guarded the secrets of her mountains and her people; but at last the clamor of foreigners at her doors could no longer be stifled, and she yielded reluctantly inch by inch, although realizing that the fountains of her weak government were crumbling beneath her.

"It was in 1882 that the first treaty with Korea was signed by the United States and foreigners took up their residence with official sanction at Chemulpo, the seaport of the capital, Seoul. Even with this foothold in the new country the unwelcome visitors pushed their way but slowly into other parts of the kingdom, and as late of 1897 only a relatively small portion had been visited by white men.

"After the Russo-Japanese war of 1904, however, when the country was freely opened to foreigners and its railways had been completed, the exploration of the northern part progressed by leaps and bounds, until the only extensive unknown area by along the north central boundary between the Tumen and Yalu rivers.

"This was said to be a region of treacherous swamps, densely forested plateaus, and gloomy canyons—a vast wilderness, treasuring in its depths the ghostly peak of the Long White Mountain, wonderful in its robes of glistening there. These northern tigers are "Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for 'Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe. Improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"On the first day's hunt at Hazanbo a deer was shot. The bullet, passing through both lungs, filled the thorax with clotted blood, and as soon as the animal was opened Palk, my Korean gun bearer, plunged his face into the half-liquid mass, drinking and eating until the last drop was gone, then removed the steaming red liver, he cut it into slices, swallowing them as fast as possible.

"I was tremendously surprised, but I learned afterward that the Koreans believe the blood of a deer or any wild animal, of drink when warm, to be a splendid tonic. Tigers' claws, whiskers, bones, and teeth are especially valuable and preparations made from these materials were often given to soldiers before a battle or any especially hazardous enterprise, since they were believed to induce great bravery."

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a glass of water in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

"Burning the Midnight Oil"

THAT, literally, is the reason why the American has won the proud distinction of being the best educated man in the world.

Because a cheap, dependable illuminating oil made from petroleum was developed first in the United States, the people of this country had the opportunity of studying late into the night long before such luxury was possible elsewhere.

The petroleum industry, in which the Standard Oil Company was a pioneer, has made it possible, even in remote places, for man to read, study and acquire knowledge in comfort, after the day's work is done.

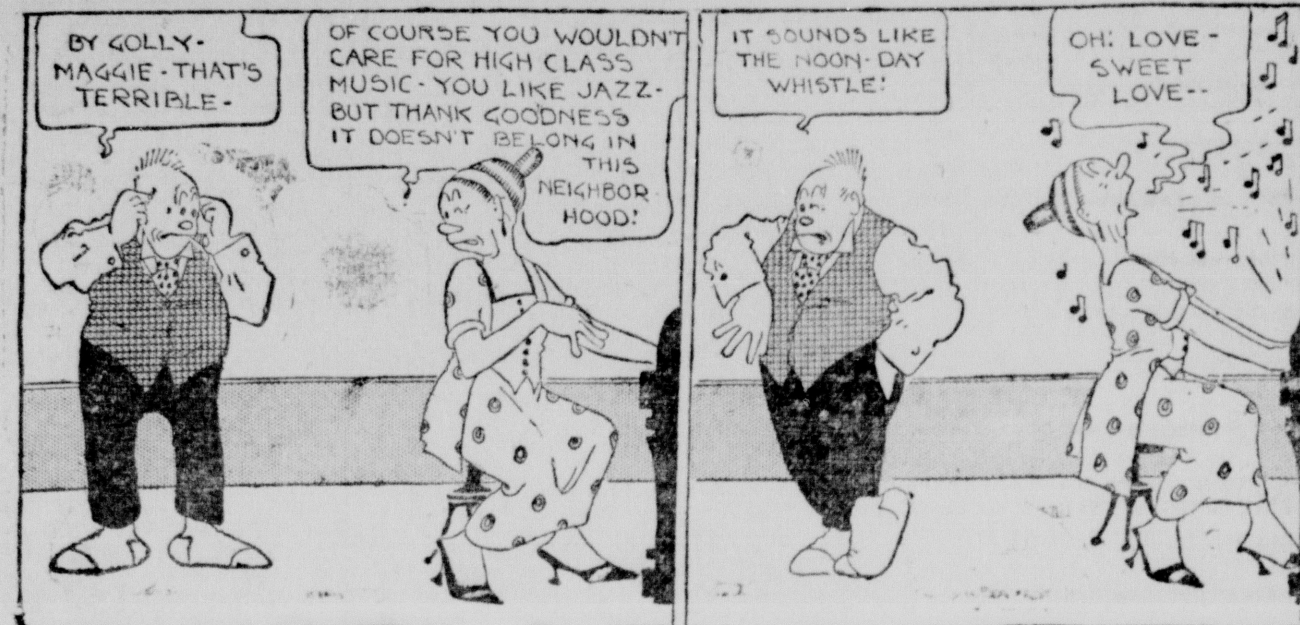

The tremendous development of America shows that the American has "burned the midnight oil" to good purpose.

BEARS CONTROL CORN MARKET IN OPENING SESSION

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 18.—There was a rush to sell today when the corn market opened and first trades showed a lack of buying support particularly on the nearby month.

Expectation of larger receipts, generally favorable weather for completing the crop and developments in the fight against the high cost of living were considered factors in the bearish trend. Opening prices were 5/8 to 5/16 lower, September showing the greatest decline the figures being September 1.75 1/2 to 1.50 and December 1.42 1/2 to 1.43 1/2. Later there was a moderate rally but prices held generally within the opening figures.

Oats were weak with scattered selling but held within closer limits than corn. Opening prices were from 3/4 to 1/2 lower with September at 72 1/2 to 73c.

Provisions fell off selling orders more than offsetting the advance in live hog prices. Scattered liquidation continued to work against the market though there were frequent slight rallies on short coverings. New low points touched by foreign exchange contributed to the weakness. The market closed heavy 3 to 4c net lower with Sept. 1.78 and Dec. 1.40 1/2 to 1.40 1/4.

"Years of Experience Have Proven to Me That the MAJESTIC Range IS the Best"

"Strange, that for years, I couldn't see that trying to get good work from an old, worn-out range, merely to save the price of a new one, was not true economy. My Great Majestic has more than earned its cost in the saving of fuel alone, because the open seams, and joints in my old, worn-out range where the bolts were loose and the putty had crumbled away, made me burn twice as much fuel as necessary. "Talk about luck in baking—'luck' is nothing but good oven and my Majestic oven is simply perfect. I can depend on it absolutely every day. I believe father and the children are happier and I know we have better meals at less expense with our Majestic."

Don't Buy Any Range Sight Unseen

Buying a range isn't an every day transaction. To be absolutely sure of complete satisfaction—don't buy from printed descriptions—see the Great Majestic dealer in your every county in 40 states) compare it point for point with any other range. Then you can buy intelligently and be sure of a range that will last a lifetime—the

Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range

A Perfect Baker—A Fuel Saver
Outwears Three Ordinary Ranges

All Copper Movable Reservoir—Other Exclusive Features

Contains Greatest Improvement Ever Put in a Range—increasing strength and wear of a Great Majestic more than pays at a point where other ranges are weakest. Ask about it. Best range at any price. We can furnish any size or style with or without lights. Come in and let us show them to you.
